in solid Mahogany with a 30-inch round top. We can not realize to the full the advantage of closing up the table and setting it aside in some vacant corner "after breakfast." In its closed up form it adds much to the decorative effect of the dining room furnishings. It is really two pieces in one and if you paid the low Titus price for it as it stands ready for the breakfast china you would be getting the table at very low cost— $24.75

Convention, Working Smoothly, Halted by Delay in the Credentials Committee.

CHICAGO, June 22.—After getting under way in an effort to close up its business today, the Republican convention was forced to halt and mark time by delay in the credentials committee reports. The convention worked steadily as long as material for its proceedings was forthcoming from the credentials committee and a dozen or more contests were put through under the gavel. In each case Taft delegates were seated.

Chairman Root ran the reports on contests through easily and rapidly, despite frequent outbursts of disorder. He smiled pleasantly as he announced the result of each viva voce.

Shortly before noon the convention caught up with the committee and for a long time was forced to mark time, amusing itself meanwhile by singing and cheering, jeering the "steam roller" and listening to music.

As the time of the intermission ran well over an hour and a half the leaders grew anxious. It became increasingly likely that the adjournment would not come before 8 a. m. Sunday.

This morning not more than 100 delegates were in their seats at 9:45. The galleries were practically empty and the prospects were that it would be well after the hour set before the convention settled down to the work of what the leaders hope to make the last session. Not a single official had put in an appearance except Sergeant-at-Arms Stone, who was busy conferring with his assistants and the convention police.

At 10 o'clock there was only a sprinkling of delegates on the floor and the galleries were practically empty. There was talk of an attempt at a Roosevelt demonstration. Chairman Root issued orders to the sergeant-at-arms and the police that no delegations were to be allowed to march into the hall. Orders were also issued to bar all banners.

As the delegates' seats on the floor began to fill up Senators Root, Crane and Penrose, Secretary Hilles, William Barnes, Jr., Representatves Marlin and Olmstead and Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor appeared on the platform. A Pennsylvania delegate with a megaphone shouted derisive comments at Penrose and Root, which evoked only a smile from the Senators Senator Smoot of Utah joined the platform group.

At 10:30 signs of impatience became evident in the hall and a Pennsylvania delegate rose on his place and yelled at the chairman: "Mr. Root, call the convention to rder; It's past ten."

It was 10:43 when Chairman Root dropped his gavel. The floor was in confusion and the aisles were crowded with delegates seeking their seats. "Clear the aisles," shouted the sergeant-at-arms, and his force. scattered through the hall to quiet the disorder.

No sooner had Root announced that the convention was open than a stentorian voice from the gallery shouted "All aboard."

Chairman Root, when some semblance of quiet had been secured, introduced Rev. John Wesley Hill of New York, who opened the proceedings with prayer. The prayer was not applauded. As Dr. Hill concluded some one in the gallery yelled "Toot, toot," and there was much laughter.

Contrary to expectations; the first report presented from the committee on credentials dealt with the Mississippi delegates at large. It recommended the seating of the Taft delegates. When the reading was concluded the gallery crowd shouted: "The ayes have it." Good nature again prevailed. The Roosevelt people presented a minority report but made no fight and the Taft delegates were seated, viva voce.

The contest of the Second district of Mississippi was taken up and the report read. Chairman Root announced the seating of the Taft delegates.

As the result of each vote was announced a chorus of shrieks, whistles and groans greeted the statement. "The ayes have it." Way up in the gallery a spectator with a mechanical whistle blew two short, shrill blasts as each contest was disposed of.

One by one the contest reports were brought in, read in a near riotous disorder and passed. The Fourth North Carolina, Third Oklahoma and Second Tennessee, on which there were no minority reports, went through under the gavel, about one fourth of the delegates hearing the reading of the reports. There was great confusion, including shouts of "Let her rip," "exceeding the speed limit," "Where is the traffic cop?" and the like. Somebody had a whistle with which he signalled like a street car conductor.

The disorder quieted down when the majority report from the credentials committee in favor of the Taft delegates at large from Washington was presented. In order that an adverse vote might not throw out the entire state delegation, the committee reported the delegates at large and each district delegation separately. The same course, it was said, would be followed in considering the Texas contest.

The majority report held that the Roosevelt delegates at large in Washington were elected by a bolting convention and an illegal primary and were not entitled to seats in the convention. Mr. Sullivan of Ohio presented a minority report holding that the Taft contest was a "trumped-up" case and recommending the seating of the Roosevelt delegation.

Sullivan moved to substitute the minority report for the other and Watson moved to table the motion. A conference was held on the platform to arrange for debate on the motion and bedlam broke loose on the floor.

"Toot, toot" "Choo choo choo! "Toot, toot.""

"Slip her in the high."

"What about the speed limit?"

"Sand the track, Watson, you're slipping."

A storm of yells and jeers swept the hall. Root, leaning on his gavel, smiled out over the disorder.

"More gasoline, more gasoline," came from the Pennsylvania delegation.

P. P. H. Ward, a negro delegate from Mississippi, raised a point of order. "The steam roller is exceeding the speed limit." This started a big laugh, which Chairman Root suppressed in order to say: "The chair sustains the point of order." He added: "The justification is that we have some hope of getting through for Sunday."

Starting somewhere in the rear the crowd began to sing "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and it swelled into a chorus followed by "Lead, kindly light, amid the encircling gloom." Another chorus across the way caught the spirit and began to sing. "John Brown's body." altering the final lines of the chorus to "As we go rolling on."

Hugh T. Halbert of Minnesota spoke in support of them inority report when quiet was restored, a limited debate having been decided upon. Halbert made a special plea to the New York delegation, the largest uninstructed delegation in the convention. to give their vote to the minority report. "The acceptance of the minority report," he declared, "would leave the Republican party but two alternatives, defeat"—he paused—"or Theodore Roosevelt."

"Hurrah!" cried a delegate. There was some hand clapping and not a cheer.

W. T. Dovell, one of the Taft Washington delegates at large, spoke for the majority report. Former Governor Fort of New Jersey made a point against Dovell's speaking, on the ground that he could not vote upon the question of seating himself. Chairman Root said that, while Dovell could not vote, he would be permitted to speak in the absence of direct instruction to the contrary by the convention.

A motion to put the Taft delegates on the permanent roll was put and carried without a roll-call. This was a distinct surprise, as the Roosevelt people had been expected to demand a line up of delegates. The acquiescence in the viva voce vote seemed to take Senator Root by surprise. He hesitated for a long while, after saying "The ayes seem to have it", before adding: "The ayes have it." The proceedings seemed to indicate a complete backdown of the Roosevelt forces.

Then came reports seating the Taft delegates from the First Second and Third Utah districts. As the reading proceeded the phrase, "The delegates seated by your national committee," brought forth a chorus of jeering protests. "No, not our; they don't belong to us." On each vote the gallery crowds joined in the chorus of "Nos" and although the volume was greater than the volume of the ayes Root would smile pleasantly and announce "The ayes appear to have it. The ayes have it."

Then the Washington cases were taken up and hte Taft men seated.

Taft delegates from the Fifth Virginia district were seated and the Texas case was then called. Word came from the credentials committee that there would be no further report for an hour.

As the wait for further reports continued the California delegates began a shout of "We want Teddy" and in a moment the Roosevelt delegates throughout the hall were standing on their chairs, joining in the shout. The gallery took part in the uproar. Soon the shout changed to "We'll have Teddy."

In the Ohio delegation, a Roosevelt supporter placed on high a common rolling pin. The kitchen implement evoked a gale of jeers and cheers.

Then the band managed to make itself heard and the disorder quieted down. West Virginia tried to sing "We want Teddy," but their voices were hushed when Miss Jacobson, who sang yesterday, appeared in the band gallery and sang "Moonlight Bay." The song halted the demonstration and the delegates encored her.

A huge placard was lowered over the balcony raill, bearing in big black letters: "What Root said of the Penrose machine—'A corrupt and criminal combination masquerading under the name of the Republican party.' " When the crowd caught sight if it there was a roar, but before it was generally read police swooped down on the banner and the man who placed it there and rushed them out of sight.

Led by Miss Jacobson and the band, the delegates joined in singing "America."

Meyer Lissner of the California delegation, climbing on a chair, shouted at Senator Root: "Mr. Chairman, while we are waiting let's heve some speeches on party regularity by Senator Crane and Senator Penrse." This was agreed to with cheer.

The delegates acceptedp the long wait for further reports with noisy good humor. The convention was called to order again at 1:30, after a loss of nearly two hurs.

Tho caes of the Fifth Virginia district was presented. This was a case of two Roosevelt delegates and there was no Taft contest. The delgats ar uninstructed. The national committee was sustained by the credentials committee, there was no minority report and the delegation was seated.

Chairman Root announced that the credentials committee had finished its work on the contests. Secretary Glea-

SEVERS RELATIONS WITH CONVENTION.

Republicans No Longer Represented Says Roosevelt.

Man Nominated by Delegates Will be a Beneficiary of Situation.

CHICAGO, June 22.—After making preliminary arrangements for the organization of a new party Colonel Roosevelt today definitely severed his relations with the national convention. In a statement setting forth his position in this regard he said that, since the convention had declined to remove the delegates who he contends are fraudulent, he could not recognize its authority. He urged his delegates to refrain from voting in the convention, although stating that in case they did vote he could not free them from the obligation to cast their ballots for him. His statement follows:

"A clear majority of the delegates honestly elected to this convention were chosen by the people to nominate me. Under the decision and, with the encouragement of Mr. Taft the majority of the national committee, by the so-called 'steam roller' methods, and with scandalous disregard to every principle of elementary honesty and decency, stole 80 or 90 delegates, putting on the temporary roll call a sufficient number of fraudulent delegates to defeat the legally expressed will of the people, and to substitute a dishonest for an honest majority.

"The convention has now declined to purge the roll of the fraudulent delegates, placed thereon by the defunct national committee, and the majority which thus enthroned fraud was made a majority only because it included the fraudulent delegates themselves, who all sat as judges on one another's case. If those fraudulent votes had not thus been cast and counted the convention would have been purged of their presence.

"This action makes the convention in no proper sense any longer a Republican convention representing the real Republican party. Therefore I hope the men elected as Roosevelt delegates will now decline to vote on any matter before the convention. I do not release any delegate from his honorable delegation to vote for me, if hev otes at all, but undre the actual condition I hope that he will not vote at all.

"The convention as now composed has no claim to represent the voters of the Republican party. It represents nothing but successful fraud in overriding the will of the rank and file of the party. Any man nominated by the convention as now constituted will be merely the beneficiary of this successful situation."

The Roosevelt "steam roller" delegates and their alternates, who were excluded from the convention, met Colonel Roosevelt in a body. The colonel held a brief reception, informed them that the plans for a new party were being pushed forward rapidly, and urged them to stand firm. It was his first intention to meet them by state delegations, but they collected so rapidly in the corridors near his office that it was decided to marshal them all into the Roosevelt national committee assembly hall at one time. A crowd which bocked the hotel corridors wanted for half an hour for a glimpse of Roosevelt. He was cheered as he passed hurriedly through the lane, which was kept clear bytch police, and waved his hand in response.

A NEW ORGANIZATION LIKELY.

Roosevelt's Name Not to be Presented to Convention As Now Constituted.

CHICAGO, June 22.—There was talk early today among Roosevelt men of a mass meeting, to effect some form of temporary organization of a new party. It is the desire of the leaders to take such a step before the delegates separate, that the work of forming a new party may begin at once in every part of the country. It had not been decided whether a meeting would be held in the Coliseum on adjournment of the Republican convention or whether the delegates would go to some other hall, but the latter course was most in favor. Colonel Roosevelt probably will address the delegates.

"The progressive party" is the name which has been chosen. It is the announced purpose of the leaders to take over the Republican party in states where the organization is in control of the Roosevelt men. In such cases the Republican candidates for state offices may be endorsed if they do not wish to go through the form of bolting. The lan suggested by William Flinn of Pittsburgh, of turning over the electoral vote of such states to Roosevelt, whoever the Republican candidate for President may be, will be followed if it can be accomplished.

Roosevelt leaders said their only reason for staying in the convention was to force their opponents to nominate Taft. They believed that should a definite rupture occur before the conclusion of the convention a committee promised candidate might be named in an effort to win back some of the Roosevelt following, but that if the Taft program is put through they will have the best chance of keeping the opposition intact. Governor Johnson of California said that in pursuance of the plan Colonel Roosevelt's name in all probability would not be placed before the convention.

"Roosevelt's name will not be presented by his friends of this convention as now constituted," was the flat declaration of Ormsby McHarg of the Roosevelt forces today. Mr. McHarg declared that Colonel Roosevelt's friends insisted upon a third party and that at the close of this convention they would remain in Chicago with Mr. Roosevelt in forming plans.

As to a Vice Presidential candidate, sentiment has not yet crystallized this morning in favor of any one in particular. It was generally conceded, however, that New York, whose 75 delegates had supported President Taft consistently in the convention, was entitled to the distinction of naming the candidate. Though Vice President Sherman's chances loomed large, there was a feeling among some of the New York delegates that another nominee could be named who would develop greater strength in western states.

TAFT MEN WIN ON SUCCESSIVE VOTES.

Real Test Came on Fourth California District.

Roosevelt Quits, Saying Further Contest is Useless.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The Roosevelt men returned to the fray in the Republican national convention today and went down again to defeat three times in as many tests of strength when the gathering took up, piecemeal, the delegate contests from several states.

The decisive, and what is regarded as the final, test of strength came on the most bitterly contested issue in the entire proceedings of the convention—the two delegates from the Fourth California district. In this fight, the storm centre of the whole controversy over delegates, the Taft men showed their control of the situation by mustering 542 votes to 529 for the Roosevelt contention.

High-water mark in their majorities for the day was reached in the contest over seating the Taft delegates from the Ninth Alabama district, when the vote stood 605 to 464.

A change in the plans of the leaders of Colonel Roosevelt's fight who are closest to him followed the decisive votes in the convention today and soon after the loss of the contest on the Fourth California district it was announced that the proposed continuation of the present convention as outlined by them yesterday had been abandoned.

In the California contest the convention rules providing for the selection of delegates by Congressional districts came into conflict with the state primary law providing for a state-wide vote on all delegates. Through this technicality, the Taft forces claimed the two delegates from the Fourth district. The case was fought with a bitterness exceeding that in any other. The Taft forces lost many of the delegates that had been with them in other contests.

Colonel Roosevelt himself threw up his hands at his headquarters after the result of the vote on the California contest was announced, and told his supporters there was no use of making any further contest, of carrying on the fight or paying any further attention to the action of the convention.

Tonight Mr. Roosevelt met with a large number of his delegates, for a few minutes. He did not outline any further plan of action, but thanked his supporters for their devotion to him and promised to meet them again tomorrow.

"Out in the short-grass country," he said, "we used to do things and talk afterward. That is what I intend to do. I have no new plans to tell you about. I am proud of the manner in which you are fighting in the face of the steam roller. I love a dead game sport."

Some of Colonel Roosevelt's more radical supporters still cling to the belief that it would be wise to carry out their original plan and stoutly maintain that the Republican convention is irregular and illegal, and after its adjournment to proceed with an organization in the same hall and name their ticket with Mr. Roosevelt as its head.

Colonel Roosevelt, however would not fall into line with this plan. He did not forbid it. He still maintains that he is bound to obey the wishes of his supporters and that he is willing, as he expressed it yesterday in his statement, "personally to bear the responsibility."

He let it be known today, however, that he did not regard such an idea as entirely practicable. Should the nomination be offered to him under such circumstances it is not his intention to decline, but he believes the wiser course would be to defer final action along such lines for a few weeks.

Colonel Roosevelt said tonight he would adhere to the course which he has mapped out, regardless of what the Roosevelt delegates to the convention decide upon. He has taken a position apart from the present struggle, with the idea that so long as the 78 delegates whom he says are his are not seated he cannot be influenced by any act of the national convention.

If the bulk of his delegates choose to follow the course which he has mapped out, he expects to preserve the present organization of his forces. If only a handful should decide at the final count to stand with him, his decision will not be influenced.

While Colonel Roosevelt was in conference with his advisers tonight a crowd of several thousand persons gathered in Michigan avenue and cheered until he raised a window and addressed them.

"My friends," he said. "my hat is in the ring and will be in stronger than ever."

That was all. The crowd shouted for a longer address, but the colonel lowered the window and retired.

BRANDS HIM AS REACTIONARY.

Bryan Appeals to Democrats to Prevent Election of Parker.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Branding ex-Judge Alton B. Parker as a "reactionary," William Jennings Bryan today telegraphed to a number of Democrats throughout the country, appealing to them to join him in preventing the election of Parker as temporary chairman of the Baltimore convention. The telegram was addressed to Speaker Clark, Governor Wilson, Governor Burke of Norht Dakota, Governor Foss of Massachuetts, Governor Baldwin of Connecticut and Mayor Gaynor of New York. Colonel Bryan's appeal follows:

"In the interest of harmony I suggested to the sub-committee of the Democratic national committee the advisability of recommending as temporary chairman some progressive acceptable to the leading progressive candidates for the Presidential nomination. I took it for granted that no committeeman interested in Democratic success would desire to offend the members of a convention overwhelmingly progressive, by naming a reactionary to sound the keynote of the campaign. Eight members of the sub-committee, however, have, over the protest of the remaining eight, agreed upon not only a reactionary but upon the one Democrat who, among those not candidates for the Presidential nomination, is in the eyes of the public most conspicuously identified with the reactionary element of the party. I shall be pleased to join you and your friends in opposing his selection by the full committee or by the convention. Kindly answer here."

Mr. Bryan declined to discuss his action further than to say the telegram speaks plainly for itself.

HARVARD WINS THREE RACES.

Crimson Oarsmen Beat Yale in 'Varsity at Annual Regatta.

NEW LONDON, June 21.—It was Harvard's day in all three races, with Yale on the Thames today. For the fifth time in consecutive races the Crimson floated over the Blue. There were six lengths of water between the Harvard 'Varsity eight and its New Haven rival at the end of the big event of the day. The Cambridge 'Varsity four-oared crew did better than that, giving their competitors 10 good lengths, and the Freshmen held up their argument gamely, winning by a length.

A Yale victory in the Freshman substitute four-oared race yesterday afternoon, a contest that has not heretofore appeared on the program, prevented a complete Crimson sweep of the river for 1912. There was so much joy in Harvard's camp, however, with six out of seven victories in the races this year, that the Crimson host returned to Cambridge hilarious.

The 'Varsity race was late in starting as Referee Meiklehelm was not quite satisfied with the water conditions. Yale caught the water first and for two or three strokes shot out 10 or 15 feet ahead. A dozen good digs into the Thames and a strong pull brought the contest to even terms at the end of 10 yards. When the mile post was passed there was open water between the boats and the time was 5:15.

Yale spurted after leaving the mile. The Harvard stroke was also increased slightly and a few more seconds were gained at the 1½-mile flag. The race now settled down to the usual test of endurance. Harvard Harvard, Captain Romeyn wilted. mark was passed in 10:50.

Harvard seemed to be content with keeping the Yale boat three or four lengths astern, and had the struggle well in hand when the three-mile post was reached. Here the time was: Harvard 16:14; Yale 16:28.

Although the Crimson oarsmen rowed with power and endurance they did not exert themselves greatly and it seemed as if Harvard at the 2½-mile flag was waiting a bit for Yale. In the last half-mile of the race Yale tired rapidly and when the blue shell darted over the line, six lengths behind Harvard Captain Romeyn wilted.

VERDICT FOR $150.

Decision of the Jury in the Automobile Damage Suit Against Water Works.

Charge of the Court in the Bond Cases Gives Clear Summary of the Law in Such Matters.

The superior court adjourned Friday afternoon to meet according to law, after a record trial for speed. It was in the case for damages for accident, and it was claimed that the Water Works automobile truck was over-speeding, but the real record was for a full trial in such a case, including a view, arguments and a verdict in at 4:47 P. M. Judge Brown presided.

Deputy Sheriff King was called to the stand and testified that marks in the street showed that the automobile truck had gone 10 or 15 feet after the wheels ceased to revolve. He did not notice any special speed of the men on bicycles.

Henry N. Ward, foreman for the Water Works, said the boy who drove the car was under his charge. Was with him when he ran into the other man (after the time in question) and it was in a crowded place, when the boy was not going at a speed which would be extra even for a horse. The boy was fined for it.

After a little evidence in rebuttal Mr. Davis argued for defendant from 3:05 to 3:35, and Judge Burke for plaintiff to 3:52.

Then the court charged the jury. He said both parties were bound to keep in mind that others equally entitled to use the streets might be approaching the corner, and it was their duty to exercise care in proportion to the danger each might be to any one on the crossing. They were bound to respect the rights of other people.

At 4:05 Keeper Romes led out the jury and the verdict was for plaintiff for $150. The court immediately adjourned.

In his charge in the bond cases the court gave a clear and valuable summary of the law applicable to a matter of interest to every business man. He spoke as follows:

In July, 1910, Lincoln & Hood of Fall River and William O. Lether of Fall River caused writs of attachment to be issued against William L. Tallman and Emma A. Tallman. They were served by Mr. King, who placed a keeper in charge of the personal property. The statute provides for delivery to the officer a bond conditioned on satisfying judgment. The officer claims that the bonds in these cases are such. The statute also provides that a bond may be delivered to the officer conditioned on the return of the goods attached. Either kind of bond being delivered to the officer, the attached goods are released. The law does not provide that a bond conditioned on both the above may be delivered, but the court has decided that it is a common law bond and that in such a case those who sign it may choose which of the conditions they will fulfil. Both conditions are printed in these bonds. The officer says he erased the condition providing for the return of the goods, before the bonds were signed, leaving the condition to satisfy judgment. It is admitted that judgment was entered in the cases in which the goods were attached.

Defendants claim that they are not liable on these bonds for several reasons. There seem to be four of these grounds of defense. If either is made out it is sufficient. The burden is on the plaintiff to produce the preponderance of evidence. He brings the bonds. If they are valid that decides the case, no matter whose was the property attached.

In the first place, it is claimed that there were no seals on the bonds. The bonds read, "our hands and seals," and it is admitted that they were signed. The sheriff says the seals were there. The defendants say they examined and saw no seals. If the seals were placed there without the consent or authority of defendants the bonds are void. Defendants sign the bonds, which read that they are sealed. If seals were put there by their authority the bonds are valid.

Next, William K. Boyd says he signed on condition that John L. Borden should also sign a co-surety. If this is true and Borden did not sign, then the verdict should be for defendant. The jury has heard the evidence of all the witnesses on this point and will determine it. The bonds do not show evidence that anybody was misled. If it was only talked, and there was no real understanding or condition, this would not be a defense. On this point the burden of proof is on defendant, because the bonds do not show it on their face. If it is proved, it is a good defense.

The next point is that the bonds were altered by erasing the condition to return the goods by drawing lines through the second or lower condition printed on the bonds. If this is so the defendants are discharged from liability on the bonds. If the bond had been signed as printed it might have been discharged by a return of the goods. Such a change, without the authority of those who signed the bond, would come very near, if not quite, amounting to the crime of forgery.

The fourth ground is misrepresentation to Mr. Boyd, that he could return the goods and discharge himself from the bond, so that he had a right to expect, and did expect, that in 10 days or so his liability would terminate. If he was fraudulently deceived in this respect, it is a good defense. There are the bonds—read them. He says he read the provision about returning the goods. The burden is upon defendant to prove this point.

If the sureties signed knowing the conditions in the bonds or signed not knowing, but there was no deceit or alteration, they are held. They may not be released merely for being ignorant of what they were doing.

The jurors are the sole judges of the facts. The court has no opinion whatever about the facts. The jurors will have no opinion about the law; that is for the court to determine. Anything the court may have said bearing on any question of fact will be disregarded by the jury; and the jury will be bound by the law as charged by the court.

All requests made for charges by plaintiff are refused (they were not read). Some of those asked by defendants are also refused. One, that if the jury believe the lines were drawn on the bond after it was signed, the verdict must be for defendant, the court charged. Also, that if no seals were there when they signed, but were placed there afterwards without authority. Also, that if for any reason Boyd is not responsible then Chase must also be released; the court so charged. Some other requests were charged, having already been included in what the court had charged. Another was that the real parties are not the sheriffs, but the parties for whose benefit the cases was brought.

There is no question of damages for the jury to determine. One bond is for $3,000 and the other for $800; but if the bonds should be found valid it would not mean that defendants would be obliged to pay either sum. It would mean that at some time there would be proceedings known as chancerization of the bonds, and the court would determine how much defendants should pay.

The case has taken some time. There have been previous trials. These things are expensive to both parties and to the state. This litigation should be terminated. No other jury can settle this case any better than this one can. If defendants are entitled to a verdict, do not hesitate to say so; if plaintiff is so entitled, do not hesitate to say that. Try to arrive at a verdict which will do justice in the case.

THE CORRIDON BENEFIT GAME.

Pitcher Frank Corridon was in Fall River Friday to make final arrangements for his benefit game. This is not a Trojan game, though the Trojans will play. Corridon is handling the affair and is bringing a special attraction here to enable lovers of base ball to see something in the playing line for which they would otherwise have to go out of town. Corridon will pitch and Mutt Waters will catch. Everyone who knows base ball knows these two. Mutt made the hit which gave the Springfield championship of the Connecticut league last season and is playing great ball.

In addition to a number of men from the New England League Corridon has a special attraction in Miss Annie Murray of the Somerville high school, who is a marvel on the ball field. He says she can catch flies, handle grounders and throw as well as he can. She is but 16 years of age, but is able to show what a girl can do in the national game and will probably be played a part of the game in right field, besides giving an exhibition of fielding work which should be an attraction for those who go early.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Swan gave a dinner at their cottage, "Daleswell," on Gibbs avenue Friday evening in honor of Captain and Mrs. William B. Caperton. Mrs. Terrell, wife of Captain John P. Terrell, entertained at cards at Fort Adams in the afternoon.

Mrs. Samuel Norris, Jr., (formerly Miss Stone), gave a luncheon at her home in Bristol Friday afternoon, her guests including Mrs. Joseph F. Stone, Mrs. William Grosvenor and Mrs. French E. Chadwick from this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle and Captain and Mrs. William L. Rodgers will entertain at dinner this evening.

PERSONALS.

....The New York Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the appellate division first department, ordering the return to Clinton prison at Dannemora of Folke E. Brandt, the former valet of Mortimer L. Schiff of New York. The decision was unanimous.

....Announcement is made in Chicago of the engagement of Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, only daughter of President Ulysses S. Grant, to Frank H. Jones, who was Assistant Postmaster General during President Cleveland's administration and now is secretary of a bank in Chicago. The wedding will take place July 4, at Mrs. Satoris's country place in Cobourg, Ontario. Only relatives will be invited.

....General Edward S. Bragg, commander of the famous Iron Brigade during the Civil war, whose death is announced, was born at Unadilla N. Y., February 20, 1827, and received his education at Geneva College. Soon after his admission to the bar in 1848 he went West and located at Fond du Lac, Wis. Here he continued to make his home, while in the years to come he won wide fame as a lawyer, soldier, Congressman and diplomat.

....Professor William Joseph Hussey, head of the department of astronomy of the University of Michigan and director of the big observatory of La Plata University in Argentina has sailed for Buenos Ayres. He will be away from this country 18 months, making observations, measurements and photographs of stars in the southern hemisphere. Professor Hussey, who was formerly director of the Lick Observatory, in California, is the discoverer of 1,400 double stars. He was awarded in 1906 the Lalande prize of the French Academy for double star discoveries and investigations.

WHEN TROUBLE COMES ROUND.

[Joe Cone, in The Century.]

When Trouble knocks hard on my kitchen door,
I don't git up an' answer no more;
I sot right still till his han's git sore.

Years ago, when I was young an' thin,
I ustor git up an' ask him in,
An' listen to all the yarns he'd spin.

An' I'd think all day, an' I'd dream all night,
'Till I didn't hev no appetite,
An' I couldn't work an' I couldn't fight.

Then I woke one day with an awful start,
With a change of head an' a change of heart,
An' I laid fer Trouble to play my part.

When he come along an' he saw my eye
He turned 'way out fer to pass me by;
An' I held my head up bold an' high.

So now when he knocks at my kitchen door,
I git my club an' I cross the floor;
But Trouble don't hang aroun' no more.

CONTINUING INQUIRY.

Congressman O'Shaunessy Finds Glaring Discrepancies in Pawtucket Democratic Primaries.

Congressman George F. O'Shaunessy is continuing his inquiry into the Democratic primaries held in this state last month for the selection of a candidate for national committeeman. His most recent investigations have been in Pawtucket, where he has found some glaring discrepancies as a result of his letters to voters in that city. He writes The News as follows:

"My canvass to date of Ward 2, Pawtucket, where Mr. Greene on the face of the returns had 515 votes and I had 9, reveals the fact that, out of all the voters in that ward, only 23 voted at the primary, 419 in answer to my letter saying that they did not vote at all. A canvass of Ward 3, where Greene on the face of the returns had 527 votes and I had 44, discloses the fact that 55 voted at the primary, and 304 say they did not vote at all."

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

THE CHANCES OF A COMPROMISE.

It is pretty late in the day for any compromise at Chicago, though talk thereof continues. If La Follette had had more strength and really had what he has claimed all along he would have, the balance of power, a compromise would have been inevitable. If the choice between Roosevelt and Taft had been purely personal it is probable that the party leaders would have come together before any vote was taken in the convention and arranged that no one should show a majority for two or three ballots. Then the compromise candidate could be presented by leaders of both factions and immediately and enthusiastically adopted by the convention. But the Roosevelt men say the choice between the two candidates is a matter of principle, and it cannot be doubted that it is at least a matter of temperament. Roosevelt is admired on one side and distrusted or feared on the other not so much for what he has done as for his temper and all the possibilities of future action involved in that.

After the Taft men had demonstrated that they had a majority and that they could hold together and make a little gain on a second test there was little use in talking of a compromise. While Taft's personal popularity is not a very great factor the momentum of the party organization is, and the abandonment of the President when he had a majority of the convention would give that momentum a serious check.

The truth is, there is no man in the field with a strong personal following except Roosevelt, who is as bitterly opposed as he is fervently admired. Even if Justice Hughes were willing to take the nomination there are no indications that he possesses large elements of popularity. Four years ago his name was mentioned a good deal, but there was little response to it. Root would be as objectionable to the Roosevelt men as Hadley would be to the Taft men, and there is no man who occupies middle ground and a commanding position.

BRYAN AT BALTIMORE.

The fight in Chicago over the temporary chairmanship promises to be repeated in Baltimore. The committee of arrangements, which is a subcommittee of the Democratic national committee, has decided on Judge Parker as temporary chairman. Bryan objects to him more than Roosevelt objected to Root. Roosevelt's distrust of Root, or his antipathy to him, is of recent growth. It isn't long since he regarded Root as the greatest man of this generation in our own or any other government. Bryan has been fighting Parker for many years.

The selection of Parker is a declaration of independence of Bryan. Four years ago most of the Democratic leaders were opposed to the Nebraskan, as a matter of expediency if not of principle, but they were cowardly; Bryan still had a large following and they were afraid to antagonize it. Since then he has undertaken to direct the Democrats in Congress what to do, and on two occasions Underwood has handled him without gloves. Lightning didn't strike the latter, the earth did not open and swallow him up quickly. The spectacle has infused courage into other Democrats and now Bryan is actually defied by the selection of a temporary chairman.

Bryan for months has been fighting Governor Harmon as a candidate because he was a part of the last Cleveland administration; in fact, he tried to prevent Harmon's re-election as governor. He has been sending out decrees from time to time that Parker will not do as temporary chairman. The committee selected the New York man immediately after Bryan had telephoned that it would be criminal to elect him to preside over the convention; that body must be progressive and Parker is a reactionary.

In spite of this the committee dared to select Parker and some of the Baltimore despatches report that sentiment for Champ Clark, the most progressive of all the candidates, is waning, and that for Harmon, the survivor of the Cleveland regime, is growing. Of course this may be merely the opinion of men who wish Harmon nominated, but the selection of Parker as chairman is a fact, and a fact which indicates a decided breaking away from Bryan. However, the latter will not easily relax his grip on the throat of his party.

EXTENDING THE INFLUENCE OF THE SCHOOLS.

That the public schools of this country are not being made as useful as they might be and should be is the conviction of many prominent educators. They are being brought more and more closely in touch with the great body of the people, but are still remote from the interests and sympathy of a large part of the population, while they might and ought to be made a vital and energizing force to the whole community and the entire country. Something of this belief has been put into practical form in the South, where a conference has been organized whose main object is to impress upon the people the responsibility of the individual in every possible way to make true the claim that in this country every child, whether of native-born or foreign parents, is entitled to receive and must be given a good education. This is not a remarkable association in itself or in its purpose, but it is one of the few formal expressions of the interest of the people in the enlightenment of the masses and is doing a great work in promoting the cause for which it stands. It is vitalizing common school education in and through the rural and city public schools.

One great trouble in regard to popular education in this country is that in most communities and states there is no close connection between the public schools, particularly those in the country, and the colleges and other higher institutions. The schools send their graduates to the colleges, though the number who go upward from the rural communities is by no means as large as it ought to be, but that is about the extent of the association between these two grades of education. Not many men who are teaching in colleges show or probably feel close sympathy with the schools of lower grade, whereas with the influence they possess and the knowledge they have acquired they could be of almost inestimable aid to those schools and to the cause of general education if they would come in touch and keep in touch with the preparatory schools, the part of the great system of public education which supplies the material upon which these teachers in the higher institutions work in making men and women of ability and intellectual achievement. There are great opportunities lost in this way which could be made of immense value to those in the lower schools and those in the higher institutions and also to the public.

THE USE OF CANDY.

There has been in recent years an enormous increase in the consumption of candy in this country. The last census showed that in five years it was more than 55 per cent or in money nearly $50,000,000. That seems like a very large sum to be expended for what many consider a luxury, and is a luxury in a sense at least, though physicians now agree that pure candy is not injurious and that a reasonable quantity is in fact beneficial not only to children but also to adults in normal condition. There was a time when children were forbidden to eat a great deal of candy for fear of the bad effect it would have upon them, the belief being common that too much would stunt the growth and disarrange the digestive apparatus. It is still true that cheap candy, which usually means poor candy, is not good for any, children or adults, but it is no longer regarded as injurious if eaten in moderate quantities and with due regard to its purity. Sweets are healthful and good candy comes under that head.

It is the opinion of physicians, however, that there should be eaten with candy a sufficient quantity of fatty foods to counteract its effects. So they urge that children, who do not always know what is best for them and crave sweets without caring for the fats which should be absorbed in connection with them, should be supplied with plenty of butter, oil or other food of that character, in order to preserve the proper proportions. Above all, they insist that the candy should be pure and that the cheaper forms, which are not usually made of the best materials, should be avoided. This is easy, as there is an abundance of good candy in the market today. Of course the price for the good is higher than that for the poor and many parents are tempted to buy the cheaper as a supposed economy, while the children themselves will almost always purchase what is cheaper in order that they may have more, not realizing that there is any material difference in the quality. It is necessary therefore for either adults or children to avoid impure candy and not all such sweets.

The Republican convention at Chicago will scarcely complete its business in time for the country to give its attention to the Democratic gathering. It is quite certain that the Baltimore convention will open with a fight which will keep up the political interest, with Bryan the central figure and the election or defeat of Judge Parker as temporary chairman the gage of battle. The smoke of one fight will hardly be cleared away before another begins.

The Idaho delegates to the Republican convention refuse further to follow the wishes of Colonel Roosevelt, for whom they were pledged to vote. The chairman of the delegation says: "We are not ~~~~ters, but Republicans who will not follow any third party or candidate. I have been disgusted with much of the anarchistic talk I have heard in many of the Roosevelt caucuses; it is unpatriotic and un-American." This fully explains Roosevelt's defeat.

The New York delegates to the Democratic convention are said to be in favor of Governor Harmon for President, with Congressman Underwood as second choice, after Mayor Gaynor has been given a complimentary vote. They have not held a caucus, however, and Boss Murphy of Tammany Hall says no one knows what the delegation will do until it has held such a meeting.

The clean-up movement has rid Newport of at least some bad spots, and stirred the members of the community to care for their surroundings. There are undoubtedly still many breeding places for flies and harmful rubbish piles, but much has been gained if some of these places have been cleaned up.

Will a new party be started, with Theodore Roosevelt as its leader? If so, which of his fiery lieutenants will be selected as his running mate?

Senator Lippitt of Rhode Island has been a prominent factor in making up the tariff plank in the Republican platform.

The Chicago convention is more quiet today. There is no use in fighting dead men, and dead men do not fight.

Colonel Roosevelt must acknowledge that for once he has not had his own way.

THE WIRELESS NEEDS MEN.

[H. H. Windsor in Popular Mechanics Magazine.]

The inestimable service which the wireless rendered in the rescue of the Titanic survivors is alone sufficient to immortalize the name of Marconi; in the confusion and excitement of events the daily press paid scant praise to the great inventor, who already has saved nearly 5,000 lives. It is apparent, however, that the continued employment of beardless youths in the wireless station of passenger liners must cease. Positions involving so momentous responsibilities are not in the nature of things fully realized by boys in their teens. This is one of the reforms international conference must secure, and should require not only examination as to wireless ability, but even more as to fitness of operators. That the mere sending or receiving of wireless is anything but difficult is attested by the thousands of grammar and high-school boys who are already operating for pleasure, but the qualities of mature judgment and endurance are a prime necessity. Moreover, a reasonable number of Atlantic steamers should, when crossing, be required to maintain unbroken attendance in the spark house, not for their own advantage, but to provide for the receiving of distress messages from other vessels.

If governments should now impose upon ship stations conditions which seem onerous to steamship companies, the penalty is not undeserved. Hereafter it must be impossible for even the president of a steamship line to absolutely throttle the voice of wireless. Imagine a city of 2,500 souls swept with sudden disaster, with 1,500 residents dead or dying, and the mayor of the town or the president of the telegraph company controlling the one telegraph wire and withholding all details for four days!

Since the above lines were written the Senate of the United States passed a bill, without discussion and without one dissenting vote, requiring two or more wireless operators on every vessel carrying 100 or more persons, crew or passengers, landing at our ports. One operator to be always on duty, night or day. Other countries will doubtless soon enforce the same requirement.

Scientific selfishness is what enables a man to convince a crowd of people that what he wants is exactly what they need.—[Washington Star.

DUE TO LARCHMONT DISASTER.

Leon Elwood Smith of Block Island Educated by Carnegie Hero Fund for Father's Bravery.

Leon Elwood Smith of Block Island, who Wednesday received a degree of bachelor of science from Brown University, was educated at the expense of the Carnegie Hero fund as the direct result of his father's bravery in rescuing survivors of the Larchmont disaster. He is a son of George Elwood Smith, brother of Captain John W. Smith, master of schooner Elsie. The father was one of the men on the schooner when, through a bitter cold night, that vessel defied the elements and rescued several persons.

The Larchmont went down February 12, 1907, and in May of that year the state of Rhode Island, the Carnegie Hero fund and the United States combined to honor the bravery of those who performed the rescues. Medals and certificates were awarded, and money was given. In all, the Carnegie fund contributed $22,000 "for the education of children or the purchase of homes." George E. Smith was awarded $2,000 for the education of his son, and it was this fund which took the young man through Brown University.

Leon E. Smith was graduated from East Greenwich Academy in 1906. It is said that he has been offered a position in Pittsburgh with a large steel concern.

THE OLD CONSTELLATION.

Remonstrance Against Destruction Would be Justifiable by the People of Newport.

[Providence Journal.]

A reminder that there lies at Newport a warship sister to the famous "Old Ironsides," if less distinguished in war is the report that the receiving and training ships Constellation, Reina Mercedes, Boxer and Cumberland are to be disposed of by the Navy Department, presumably for the price of junk. It would not be surprising if the people of Newport started a remonstrance against the purpose. In behalf of the Constellation that would evidently be justified. The frigate Constitution, now at Charlestown, has been twice in like jeopardy. More than 80 years ago, in the routine of the department, she was condemned because to render her fit for fresh service would have cost excessively. Young Oliver Wendell Holmes expressed the public temper in a bit of hasty verse, printed in a newspaper which is better known today than anything he ever wrote. The alternation to breaking up "Old Ironsides," urged in these stirring lines, was to sink her with honors, as the nation has recently disposed of the tragic Maine.

The Constitution, accordingly, was restored to the sea. She cruised the world around again. She was rescued from the eager grasp of the Confederacy. Although by then her fighting days were over more deep water service awaited her; so that she was not laid up until she had sailed into Boston harbor to be present at the patriotic celebration of the centenary of her launching. Shortly thereafter the department again proposed to dispose of her useless and tenantless hulk; but in response to another countrywide appeal she has been restored in all respects of rigging and equipment as if for active service, though she will not sail again. No similar opportunity has been afforded for feeling the public pulse respecting the Constellation; else there might have been discovered a national pride in her persisting after many generations. She was the second to be launched of the six cruisers built under an act of Congress of 1794, the earliest provision for the establishment of the navy under the constitution. The act was prompted by the depredations of the Algerine corsairs on American commerce. She was not sister to the Constitution in the strict sense of that ship term since though resembling the most famous frigate, she was smaller and carried fewer guns.

These first ships established the precedent for what has become a practice with our navy; they were the best in the world of their period. Of the six, the President was captured by an English squadron, and the Chesapeake by the Shannon; the United States was destroyed at Norfolk, to prevent her passing to the Confederates and the Congress disappeared from the naval list in the usual course. The Constellation was built at Baltimore. Her most famous action was with the Insurgents in the brisk naval war with France. She had a part in the Tripolitan affair, but during the War of 1812 while the Constitution was winning incomparable laurels, the Constellation was ingloriously shut in at her anchorage in Virginia waters. During the Civil war she was dispatched on a variety of missions which, because steam was already displacing sail power, proved futile for the most part. In the language of an official order of the Navy Department, directing her operations in the Mediterranean, she "exercised vigilance" in respect of the speedy commerce destroyers of the Confederacy. She was for many years the practice ship of the cadets at Annapolis.

HISTORY'S REPETITION.

[Washington Star.]

"History," said the ready-made philosopher, "repeats itself."

"That," replied the agitated citizen, "is another of those wise remarks that don't relieve the uncertainty. History includes every kind of event that could possibly take place, and there's no way of telling which of them it is about to repeat."

A CLEANER NEWPORT.

Volunteer Squads of Boys at Work All the Morning.

Find Many Places Already Put in Order and Met Cordial Reception Generally.

The city of Newport is a cleaner place in which to live this afternoon than it was when the sun rose this morning, thanks to the efforts of the "clean-up" squads, who worked industriously all morning. From 50 to [illegible] boys, each supplied with a garden rake and bag, started from the Townsend Industrial School at 8 o'clock. The city had previously been divided into districts, and a group of workers was sent to each of these, in charge of an older person. With each squad went a bundle of "Swat the Fly" posters and written instructions on the territory to be covered. Each leader in charge of a squad of boys was also cautioned to bear in mind that they had no official standing, and could not enter back yards or other private property without permission. Instructions were given to note all unsanitary conditions, whether the workers were in a position to investigate or not, in order to be able to report on return to headquarters. In case of information being needed regarding any section or phase of the work, they were to telephone headquarters. In that way the executive officer of the committee, Mr. A. R. C. Gitzenmeier, was able to keep in touch with the workers.

In addition to the boys who went out with rakes and bags, there were a number of volunteer inspectors, including several women, who made a tour of the city in automobiles, to seek out unsightly spots and breeding places for flies, and will make known the result of their investigaton to the committee.

Of course there were some parts of the city to which the committee did not deem it necessary to give attention, such as the Kay street, Bellevue avenue and other residential districts. The workers were centered in the most congested part of the town and gave special attention to the wharfs. Each boy wore the "Swat the Fly" button. Messrs. J. K. and J. P. Sullivan loaned carts to carry off the rubbish.

Some of the squads finished early and went around and gave a lift to the others, who were still at work. It was observed that in many sections places had just been cleaned up; rake marks and piles of rubbish showed that the majority of citizens had too much pride to leave anything for the cleaners to do.

Some interesting cases might be mentioned, where things have been allowed to accumulate for years until they became an eyesore to the neighborhood, which have been eradicated as the result of a few hours' work. Indeed, the workers were surprised at the cordial reception they met. It is true they encountered some people who were inclined to be a little skeptical about the movement, but this was expected. These were generally people whose places were in the worst condition.

It was interesting to note the enthusiastic spirit with which the boys entered into the work, showing that they had a good deal of civic pride. The experience they gained and the moral idea behind it all will tend to make better future citizens of the boys who helped.

At 12:10 all the workers left on the car for "Beth-Shan-in-the-Woods," where they were given a picnic. After the dinner, which was served in regular Scout style, a program of athletic sports was carried out.

TWO DEATHS.

Miss Elizabeth C. Boss, a Well Known School Teacher, and Miss Agnes Edward.

Miss Elizabeth C. Boss, for many years a teacher in the Newport schools, died this morning after a long illness. She was a Newporter by birth, daughter of the late Thomas L. and Abby C. Boss, and spent practically her entire life here. August 19, 1867 she was elected a teacher in the public schools, and served continually nearly 31 years, resigning September 15, 1898, after having been compelled to be absent from her duties for the greater part of the preceding year. Miss Boss was a popular teacher, being located in the Coddington building for the greater part of the time, and is pleasantly remembered by many in middle life today who studied under her in their earlier days. She had been for many years connected with the Channing Memorial Church.

After a severe illness, extending over some weeks, Miss Agnes Edward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Edward of Robinson street, died of spinal meningitis Friday at the Newport Hospital. At one stage of her illness there were hopes of her recovery, but during the past few days her condition was such that little hope was held out. Miss Edward was but 19 years old and a robust, active girl up to the time she was stricken. She was for two years a pupil at the Rogers High School, but left some time ago to assist at home. She was a member of the United Congregational Church and a pupil in its Sunday School.

JUNE OUTING IN NEWPORT.

Shriners to Have Drive and Collation at Bliss's Camp, or Entertainment at The Colonial.

Next Friday the Nobles of Palestine Temple, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will come from Providence on steamer Warwick to Rocky Point and Newport on their annual June outing. The steamer will stop at Rocky Point, where a clambake will be served. Leaving the point directly after the dinner, there will be a short parade from the boat to Washington square, upon arriving here.

Carriages will then be taken for a drive through the city and suburbs, passing Paradise and Hanging Rocks. A short stop will be made to give the Nobles a glimpse into Purgatory. The drive will continue to Bliss's camp at Easton's Point, where a collation will be served. Carriages will return to the boat at 6:30 o'clock and the steamer will leave for home at [illegible]

If it is stormy when the Shriners come arrangements have been made to attend a vaudeville entertainment at the New Colonial Theatre. The collation in this case, will be served at Masonic hall.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The Fourth of July committee will meet this evening.

—Dr. T. A. Kenefick has arrived at his cottage on Catherine street.

—The Thames street pavement received a flushing this afternoon.

—Mr. and Mrs. Royal Phelps Carroll arrived today at their cottage on Clay street for the season.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smith and Mr. and Mrs Andrew Christensen left today for an automobile trip to Worcester, Mass., to attend the graduation of friends at the Worcester High School.

—Miss Waldron Weaver has returned from Byrn Mawr.

—The soldiers have come out in the summer khaki and olive green suits.

—The Newport Coal Company coaled Yacht Narada today in the stream.

—Miss Margaret Murray has arrived from New York for the season.

—Dr. William L. Harris of Providence has arrived at Cottage No. 12, Renfrew Park, for the season.

—Mr. George Eckert, who is studying medicine at the University of Vermont, is at home for the summer.

—Mr. George F. Baldwin, chief petty officer of battleship North Dakota, is here to spend a short leave with his wife.

—Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Davis are occupying the Swan cottage, "The Kedge," on Gibbs avenue, for the summer.

—Mrs. A. Duer Irving and Miss Gibson of New York are guests of Mrs. Marsden J. Perry at "Bleak House."

—Mrs. James M. Collins (Miss Grace M. Counihan) attended the graduation exercises at the Rogers High School Friday.

—T. J. O'Neill has sold for Thomas J. and Rose T. Finn the land and dwelling at 487 Spring street to Napoleon and Alice Vestoso.

—Steamer Block Island, having returned from the boat races at New London, is filling the place of the General on the Wickford line.

—DeBlois & Eldridge have rented the Osgood estate on the easterly side of Bellevue avenue to J. Stewart Barney of New York for the season.

—Mr. Richmond T. Gibson, a cadet at West Point and son of Surgeon Gibson, formerly at Fort Adams, is visiting Mr. G. H. Burnham, Jr.

—Mr. Charles M. Welsh and family, who have taken the Morrell cottage, arrived from Philadelphia this morning in Pullman car Independence.

—The automobiles and yachts are still arriving from the boat races at New London. Steam yacht Wasp and power boat Mona Loa are the latest.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. Storrs Wells arrived Friday at "Chetwode," Bellevue avenue, for the summer, Mrs. Wells having returned during the week from Europe.

—The total registration up to the close Friday night was 660. Last year at the same date it was 655, in 1910 it was 639, and in 1909 it was 639. Up to noon today the total was 682.

—Miss Thomas, secretary of the Charity Organization Society, has returned from Cleveland, where she has been attending the big convention of the charity officers of the county.

—There were rumors of a war on Robinson street this morning and Officer Loughlin went to investigate. It had been declared a draw before he arrived and no complaints were made.

—Washington Commandery has invited the members of St. John's and St. Paul's Lodges and their families to attend the St. John's day services and listen to the sermon by Rev. G. V. Dickey.

—Steam yachts Waconda, Narada, Aloha, Diana, Agawa, Tanawah, Nemaha and Shur have arrived, and the Waconda and Diana have sailed. Mr. Guy Norman's schooner yacht Transient has also sailed.

—To commemorate the completion of 45 years connection with The Newport Daily News Mr. T. T. Pitman entertained the employes of the paper this afternoon with refreshments, served in one of the rooms of the building.

—The Muenchinger-King cottage has been embellished by the addition of a wrought iron grill work above the entrance, suspended from which is a small neat sign with the name, "Muenchinger-King." It makes a useful and artistic addition.

—Mr. Clayton G. Dixon, son-in-law of Mr. Hugh L. Willoughby, met with a somewhat serious mishap recently while entering the grounds of his residence at Wallington, Pa. His car ran into a ditch or over an embankment, throwing him out and injuring him severely.

—City Sergeant Westcott is reported as rather more feeble today than he has been. To those who know him it seems only necessary to state that when the circus parade passed his window Thursday Mr. Westcott was too exhausted to look out and see it go by.

—The members of the T. E. N. Club, composed of grammar school girls gave a graduation party Friday evening at the home of Miss Charlotte Stoddard on Friendship street. Among the guests were the principal and assistant of Ninth grade, Cranston school.

—The "Swat the Fly" posters are being distributed today and the "clean up" squads are at work, but up to noon—no one had been around to clean non—no one had been around to clean the windows of the city capitol so that those inside might look out and see what there might be outside.

—Postmaster Burlingame is placing a letter box and a large package box in front of the postoffice. The changes which are being made to the lobby necessitate the removal of the boxes which for a long time have occupied the central front of the building, with openings on the street.

—In response to a request from many excursionists Manager Soreiro will open the skating rink for a special session late this afternoon, for the accommodation of those who come from Providence and vicinity. Arrangements have also been made for a confetti carnival next Thursday evening.

—The advance guard for the Young Men's Christian Association camp—Messrs. Chapin, Slocum and Cornwell—left this morning for Pettaquamscutt, to prepare for the arrival of the boys Monday morning. About 25 are going over Monday, and perhaps there will be more.

—Following a custom of some years' standing, two women friends of the Walter Lowrie Club are sending four members to Northfield for a week. The beneficiaries are President E. O. King, Edmund Dodge, Edgar Staats and Orin Alger and they will take the early train Monday morning.

—Recent registers are the Casino include Henri de Bach, Marshall R. Kernochan, W. Hude Neilson, Charles B. Carroll, Dudley Davis, Morton Goodspeed, Martha Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Whelen, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle, Miss Gibson, R. P. Carroll, George P. Meserve and Mr. and Mrs. James B. Clews.

—Tax Collector E. W. Higbee was called to Hyde Park, Mass., today to attend the funeral of his eldest brother, Charles R. Higbee. The deceased was an old railway man, having been employed until his retirement, on the old Boston & Providence road, then with the Old Colony, and finally with the New York, New Haven & Hartford. He leaves a widow and six adult children.

—About 12,000 mackerel and 34 swordfish were landed Friday. Two seiners, the first in this season with fish, were among the boats discharging. Today a third seiner, the Grace Otis, is in with 1,700 mackerel. Of the netters the W. H. Reed had 500, the Freedom 300 and the Diana 500. The Anona had 8 swordfish. There will be no shipment of scup today, but there will be tomorrow.

field and stole second. Sheehan singled to right and O'Connell scored. Langley went to third on the throw from Biesel and tried to come home, but Pinto's throw to Jemail put Langley out. Sheehan scored on Martin's out at first and E. Greene flied out to Biesel.

Rogers started with Sayer at bat. He singled and Biesel's two-bagger sent him home, but a good throw from DeBlois put him out there. Jemail came to time with his home run hit, and the score was tied again.

There were no runs in the twelfth inning, but in the thirteenth the game was won. F. Greene came to bat and reached first on Cottrell's error. O'Connell put a fly to Martland, who muffed. Langley popped a little fly in front of Pinto, who threw to Robson, catching Greene off his bag, making a double play. A wild pitch sent O'Connell to second and he stole third. He was off his base a long way and Pinto threw down, but the throw was too high for Jemail and went by. Jemail, instead of going after the ball, tried hard to gain a run, but it was being that O'Connell reached home with the winning run.

In Rogers's last chance the batters tried hard to gain a run but it was impossible. Sayer went out, Sheehan to Martin, and Biesel, Oxx to Martin. Jemail doubled past second and stole third. It was then up to Cottrell, who put the ball to short stop, Sheehan was sure and threw Cottrell out at first, ending the game. The score:

Dr. Ashton and family of Philadelphia have arrived at their summer home on the Dumplings for the season.

FREIGHT YARD IMPROVEMENTS.

Two new tracks have been laid in the freight yard with a capacity of about 40 cars and today a work train is in with stone and gravel to put in what seems to be destined to be a substantial roadbed, to the east of the new tracks, so that teamsters will not see their teams, sink out of sight in the mud this winter. Big stones are being placed for a foundation and on top of these gravel is spread. Crushed stone would be better but this will keep the wagons out of the mire.

Those who now cross the railroad tracks to Marsh street have 11 tracks to cross, three at the passenger depot and eight on the main line and sidings.

ORDAINED AS PRIESTS.

Rev. John X. Murphy of This City in Baltimore and Rev. Francis J. Duffy in Fall River.

Friday at the Cathedral, Baltimore, Rev. John X. Murphy, son of Councilman and Mrs. M. J. Murphy, was ordained to the priesthood by His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons. The new priest, who is destined for the diocese of Providence, celebrated his first mass at the Seminary of St. Mary in Baltimore this morning and will celebrate his first high mass Sunday morning at the 10:30 service at St. Augustin's church, that being now his parish church. There will be a reception Sunday afternoon for his friends at the home of his parents on Carey street.

Father Murphy studied in St. Mary's parochial school, then in the Rogers High School, later for two years at Holy Cross College and for the past five years has been at St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. He has been diligent in his school and college work, with the result that he has become a priest at an unusually early age.

At St. Mary's Cathedral, Fall River, this morning Rev. Francis J. Duffy of Fall River was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Feehan of the diocese of Fall River. The young priest will celebrate his first high mass a week from Sunday in the Church of the Sacred Heart, his parish church. He was educated in the schools of Fall River, graduated from the Durfee High School, studied at Holy Cross and later at St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. He is a brother of Mrs. Conroy, wife of Sergeant Conroy of the police force.

BOTHWELL BROWNE AT FREEBODY PARK.

Bothwell Browne, who has attained celebrity as a portrayer of feminine characters and last winter starred in "Miss Jack," is to be the feature attraction at Freebody Park next week in his pantomimic historical dance creation, "Cleopatra or The Serpent of the Nile," produced with special scenery, effects and incidental music, depicting the tragic death of the famed enchantress of rulers in the throne room of the Temple Isis from the poison of the serpent whose kiss she had invited. The four additional acts are Crimmins and Gore in "What Are the Wild Waves Saying?" a comedy oddity; Belle Stone and her Mysterious Globe, Mahoney and Tremont, singers and dancers, and Paul LaCroix and company in "The Mad Hatter." The feature picture will be one of the "Bison 101" prairie productions, "The Outcast."

FEARING-STRONG.

The marriage of Miss Charlotte Strong, daughter of the late Benjamin W. Strong of New York, to ex-Mayor Daniel B. Fearing of this city took place today at the Church of the Heavenly Rest in New York. Owing to a recent death in the bride's family the wedding was quiet, only relatives and a few personal friends being present. Mr. and Mrs. Fearing will travel extensively on their wedding trip, going first to California and then to Japan, coming to Newport probably early in the autumn.

Musicale Fills Lecturer's Hour at Grange Meeting, Followed by Serving of Refreshments

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Portsmouth Grange at its regular meeting had a good attendance. After the business the lecturer's hour was filled with the following program: Piano solo, Grand American March, Miss Edna L. Malone violin and piano selection, "Swing Song," by Ethel Barus, Mrs. Charles G. Clarke and Miss Carolyn D. Anthony; reading, "The College Professor," Mr. Arthur A. Sherman; song, "Love Sings the lark," Beschoff, by Miss Anthony, who gave an encore "The little Irish girl," Lohr; piano solo, "Silver Stars," Mrs. Edna L. Malone; reading "Aunt Mirandy on Keeping a Husband," Mrs. William K. Boyd; violin and piano selection, "Flowers and Ferns," Keiser, by Mrs. Clarke and Miss Anthony; reading, "Parson Snow's Hint," Mr. I. Lincoln Sherman; song, "Rosemary, for Remembrance," Hill, by Miss Anthony; encore, "Two eyes of brown," Hawley; piano solo, "Love and Roses," Miss Malone; reading, "The Romance of an Egg," Mrs. George Hart; song, "My First Love," Lohr, Miss Anthony; violin and piano selection, Menuerto, Mozart by Mrs. Clarke and Miss Anthony.

Later adjournment was made to the dining room, where strawberries and cream, rolls and cake were served by the feast committee. The musicale was in charge of Mrs. Warren R. Sherman and the hall was decorated with roses and other flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Darling of Anderson, Ind., arrived at the home of Mrs. Darling's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Sherman, Friday, it being their first visit here since their marriage three years ago the coming July. They left home Friday, June 14, going by the way of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia to attend the conventin of railroad men at Atlantic City, Mr. Darling being sent as agent for the Remy Electric Company. Mr. Darling will make a short visit and Mrs. Darling will remain longer.

Mrs. George S. Sherman is spending some weeks with Mrs. H. Manton Chase.

The following spent Friday in Portsmouth, looking over points of historical interest under the guidance of Benjamin L. Dennis of Providence: Professor H. O. Tripp of the Providence high school, Rev. Gideon A. Burgess, Grafton H. Willey, Grafton H. Willey, Jr., all of Providence and Henry R. Gross, M. D., and Harry M. Singleton of Washington.

Mrs. Christopher Peckham of Middletown was guest Friday of her sister, Mrs. William H. Tallman. She was accompanied by Mrs. J. Oscar Peckham and her son Everett, of Newport.

Messrs. John T. B. Harrington and M. A. Gifford recently caught a turtle weighing 56 pounds.

Mrs. Belle Tallman has returned from a visit of 10 days or more to her daughter, Miss Dorothea Tallman of Keene, N. H. Mrs. H. Frank Anthony, who accompanied her, also returned.

Some of the largest and sweetest berries are now coming into market and will be served at the strawberry supper of St. Mary's Guild.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. James Brett Stokes is here to spend the summer.

—Assistant Surgeon J. A. B. Sinclair has been ordered to the Dixie.

—Mr. Henry Clews has Mr. and Mrs. James B. Clews as guests at "The Rocks," Ocean avenue.

—Miss Christine Lester has returned ~~from Bryn Mawr and has as~~ guest Miss Anna Harrison of that place.

—Colonel and Mrs. C. L. F. Robinson arrived Friday at their cottage, "Heartease," on Kay street, for the summer.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Whelen are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle at the Shields cottage, "Nethercliff," Ochre Point.

—Professr Thomas Crosby, Jr., of the English department, Brown University, is at the home of his mother on Ayrault street.

—Several teachers of the public schools have been invited to occupy Mrs. Gibbs's bungalow at "Bethshan-in-the-Woods for a week.

—The seventh, eighth and ninth grades of the Steep Brook School in the northern part of Fall River came on their annual trolley trip to Newport today.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney sailed for Europe today. They will spend some time in London before going to their shooting box in Yorkshire.

—Miss Ellen Meliff, collector of the Catholic Women's Beneficial Legion, has paid to the beneficiary of the late Mary Ebbitt, the claim which the latter held in the organization.

—Mrs. Pembroke Jones and her daughter, Miss Sadie Jones, will return from Europe early in July and come to Newport to occupy "Sherwood" for the remainder of the summer.

—Miss Harriet Steel of Chicago, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McLennan, will sing at the First Presbyterian Church. Miss Steel sings at one of the larger churches in Chicago.

—The highway department has had its attention called to the fact that there were dead limbs on trees on Cottage street, one having fallen recently. Men were sent there Friday to look over the situation and found one tree so far gone inside that it could be pulled down. It was pulled down.

—Mr. and Mrs. S. McKee Beckenridge of St. Louis, W. M. Wood, Jr., Miss Wood and Miss Irene Wood of Boston; Ogden Mills, Mr. and Mrs. John Sanford of Amsterdam, N. Y., and Captain D. S. Vassilieff and H. de Steel of the Russian embassy at Washington are at the Muenchinger-King.

—The water pipe to Fort Adams was finished Friday as far as the road to the fort and those who have occasion to use Harrison avenue are pleased. The work has been pushed as fast as possible and every precaution taken to minimize the obstruction to travel but it was really no time to have the road torn up.

—The Chase-Chace Family Association will hold its annual reunion Monday at New Bedford, the New Bedford Yacht Club having given the use of its house on the shore of Pandanarum bay for the meeting and dinner. Dr. A. Chace Sanford of this city is a member of the local committee of arrangements for the reunion.

—Contractor John Radford has finished the sea wall at "The Breakers" and all that remains to be done is the clearing up. This has been something of a job, occupying about three months and using a great quantity of stone. In places the wall must be 10 or 12 feet thick and it is built in a substantial manner, to act as a support of the lawn above.

—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt arrived Friday evening from New York and is occupying "The Breakers" for the first time in three years. Count and Countess Szechenyi (formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt) sailed from Europe today on the Mauretania and on their arrival in New York will come to Newport to spend the summer with Mrs. Vanderbilt.

TENDENCY TO UNIT RULE.

State-Wide Primaries Might Decide Another Republican Contest.

National Committee May Lose Control It Exercises in Making Up List of Delegates.

[Chicago correspondence of The News.]

CHICAGO, June 21.—One thing seems evident as a result of the national convention this year and that is that the old order of things will change. It seems altogether probable that another national Republican contest will be decided after state-wide primaries. Possibly an effort will be made to continue the district system, but it is more than likely that states will elect the delegates just as was done in California and Oregon and that state delegations will vote as a unit hereafter. The tendency is in that direction. Many men who attended the convention of 1912 believe that state-wide primaries under state laws and managed by state officials will prevent the inumerable contests which always happen when there is a sharp contest fr the nomination for President.

Before another national convention there will be a strong effort to take out of the hands of the national committee the control it exercises in making up the list of delegates. Where there are contests in large numbers the national committee the contrl it exercises in making up the list of delegates. Where there are contests in national committee is the only body which really hears and adjudicates the contests. The national committee takes nearly two weeks for the hearings and the committee on credentials cannot give more than two days and often is not allowed one day to consider the contests, but accepts the judgment of the national committee and the list of delegates as made up by the national committee becomes the convention. As the national committee is four years old and about to expire it is thought by many that it has too much control.

Probably nothing wearies the actual workers at national conventions quite so much as the vast throngs of people who always attend. They pay their railroad fare and put up with all manner of inconveniences such as four and five in a room, simply for the purpose of being at the great show. It has been suggested that the size of convention halls ought to be limited; that only the delegates and newspaper men should be permitted to attend and that the crowds should be discouraged.

There is a hint in the primary system: It may do away with the big convention crowds and that for which the crowd attends would be absent. But as long as the conventions are upon the present plan the crowds will come and they ought to be here. They enjoy it and the fellow who likes human nature cannot but help enjoy the big, enthusiastic, pushing, bustling crowds. Yet it is a relief when they disappear.

Many Democrats of prominence are in Chicago at different times. They came to see how the Republicans managed a convention, but they were also much interested in the nomination. Most of them believed that upon the Republican nomination hinged to a great extent the success of the Democratic nominee.

Everybody expected that Colonel Roosevelt would come to Chicago, but few dared to say that he actually would come. There never was in the history of conventions a time when a leading candidate actually came to the convention for the purpose of capturing the nomination. But then Colonel Roosevelt is an exception to all rules.

Here is something that applies to both conventions. At each there is the greatest pressure for time. Here is the proposition: Counting the time spent by the national committee in hearing contests, a little more than two weeks is spent in naming a man for the great office of President, for in many cases the man is never before the people until he is sprung upon the convention. Why, the Senate has taken ten times that amount of time considering whether Mr. Lorimer shall be Senator from Illinois. I have seen Congress spend that much time over a bill to create a new bureau in one of the departments expending $50,000 a year. Time is not for making Presidents but for making laws.

A man who has been keeping track of politics for many years has come to the conclusion that everything connected with and leading up to the Republican convention shows that there is an irrepressible conflict between the radicalism and conservatism in this country which must be fought out in every election until one side or the other is victorious for a number of years. A victory now and a defeat the next time will not settle the question. It must be a succession of victories for one side when the other will accept the inevitable and new issues will come to the front.

Arthur W. Dunn.

ADD TO YOUR PERSONAL ADORNMENTS

By the Use of Newbro's Herpicide

A pretty woman may enhance her beauty and a plain woman become good looking by the proper care of her hair.

Nice hair, pretty hair, growing on the head it adorns, is one of nature's greatest beautifiers.

The kind of hair which always makes us look the second time, follows the use of Newbro's Herpicide, and is possible for every woman.

Regular applications of Herpicide kill the hair-destroying dandruff germ, keep the hair from coming out and add to it that luxuriance, snap and luster which are essential to hair beauty.

Newbro's Herpicide is the Original scalp prophylactic. All other hair remedies claiming to kill the dandruff germ are simply trying to trade upon the reputation of genuine Herpicide.

Applications may be obtained at good barber shops and hair dressers.

Send 10c in postage to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich., for sample and booklet.

W. BUTLER DUNCAN.

Well Known Railroad Man and Banker Dies from Pneumonia in in New York.

Mr. W. Butler Duncan, railroad man and banker and prominent for decades in the social life of New York, died from pneumonia in that city. He was 82 years old. The funeral will probably be held Monday and burial will be in Providence, Mr. Duncan's old home.

Mr. Duncan, who received an honorary degree of master of arts from Brown University in 1850, was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, March 30, 1830, and was a son of Alexander and Sarah (Butler) Duncan of Providence, formerly well known Providence residents. He was educated in Edinburgh and also attended Brown. Formerly a vice president of the Butler Hospital and a president of the Butler Exchange Company, he was well known in Providence, although for years he ham made his home either in New York or abroad.

He was president in 1874-88 of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company and had also served for the greater portion of the time since as the chairman of the board of directors of that company. He had also been a director in the Southern & Atlantic Telegraph Company, the United States Guarantee Company and other corporations. He was a member of the National Academy of Design, of the Associated Alumni of Brown University, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the American Museum of Natural History, and of many clubs elsewhere.

Mr. Duncan was married at New Orleans November 22, 1853, to Jane P. Sargent. Their children are A. Butler Duncan, Mrs. Wilton Phipps, and Mrs. Paul Dana.

son read a statement from the chairman of the committee to the effect that all remaining contests had evidently been abandoned. By unanimous consent all remaining cases except those in Texas were placed on the permanent roll.

The eight Taft delegates at large from Texas were placed on the permanent roll of the convention by the credentials committee, 27 to 15.

The delegates from contested Texas districts were seated in a single decision, without argument, by the credentials committee. No roll-call was taken. This completed the contests.

TO ANSWER THE ATTACK.

Reply to Charges Against Credentials Committee Ordered.

CHICAGO, June 22—Denouncing the Roosevelt members of the credentials committee as liars, "gutter workers" and "partisans," the majority members of the committee today answered the attack upon them made public last night by R. R. McCormick of Chicago. A committee of five—Thomas Devine of Colorado, F. W. Estabrook of New Hampshire, Representative Malby of New York, O. M. Lanstrum of Montana and Representative Mondell of Wyoming, was authorized to draw up a statement in answer to the Roosevelt member's charges. This action followed a session in which charges of "liar" were hurled back and forth, and in which the Roosevelt men were accused of "following orders" and ignoring their own judgment on contested delegate cases.

The McCormick statement made public last night charged that "a coalition" had been formed, to seat all the contested Taft delegates without regard to facts presented. It was signed by R. R. McCormick, Illinois; H. E. Halbert, Minnesota; Cleney St. Clair, Idaho; Ralph Harris, Kansas; Daniel C. Norton, Oklahoma; A. V. Swift, Oregon; Jesse A. Tollerton, Missouri; L. N. Mitchell, Pennsylvania; F. J. Heney, California; S. X. Way, South Dakota; Harry Shaw, West Vrginia, and H. E. Lockett, Nebraska. Two other members of the committee, J. J. Sullivan of Ohio and J. B. Axis of New Jersey, agreed to sign the statement before it is presented to the convention today.

HADLEY'S PROPOSITION LOST.

Plank Favoring Direct Primary Voted Down by Platform Committee.

CHICAGO, June 22.—The Republican platform committee voted down, by a bare majority of one, a proposition by Governor Hadley to incorporate a plank favoring the direct primary. Governor Hadley announced that no minority report would be presented by the Roosevelt memebrs of the platform committee. It is possible however, that the La Follette faction will present a report.

The platform committee completed its deliberations and adjourned at 12:30 p. m. Its principal discussion was on the question as to whether the tariff resolutions should include specific recognition of the fact that certain duties were too high, with a pledge for their reduction. Action making sue recognition was taken. hotel corridors waltedforhalfan m

HUGHES NOT WILLING TO RUN.

Asks That Effort to Nominate Him be Stopped as He Would Decline.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Frederick C. Tanner of the New York delegation gave out the following telegram received from Justice Hughes, dated Lake Placid, New York.

"Ralfol Wise's statement published yesterday states my position. Please stop any effort on my behalf, as nomination in any event would be declined."

AVIATOR RASHED TO GROUND.

Another German Officer Killed in Flight at Doeberitz.

DOEBERITZ, Germany, June 22.—Another army aviator was killed here last evening Lieutenant Von Falkenhayn of the German army, after making a flight on the military aerodrome, made a false movement with one of the levers, which caused him to dash to the ground with great force. The machine was totally wrecked and the body of the aviator was found among the debris.

MOVEMENTS OF AMERICAN SHIPS

Vessels Ordered About in Connection With Cuban Situation.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Gunboat Petrel has left Key West for Nipe Bay; collier Lebanon has gone from Guantanamo to Media Luna Cay; battleship Nebraska is temporarily away from Guantanamo on steaming trials, and cruiser San Francisco is on her way back to New York. These are the naval movements of the last 24 hours in connection with the Cuban situation.

BY MEANS OF FORGERY.

Many Visitors to the Convention Swindled by a Confidence Man.

CHICAGO, June 22.—A typewritten request to "please admit the bearer to all sessions", on monogrammed paper over the forged signature of President Taft, it was learned last night, had been the means employed by a confidence man to swindle more than a score of convention visitors during the day.

Joshia Hartnett, who wore a G. A. R. button and said he was from Arkansas, presented one at the Coliseum and later told the police he had paid $10 for it to a man who claimed to be a personal friend of the President and said Mr. Taft was indignant because so many of his good friends had been shut out of the big meeting. "He explained to me what a grand man President Taft was and that I was making a mistake shouting for Roosevelt. Then he said he would be unable to use the ticket and offered to let me have it for $10, which I gladly paid," said Hartnett, in explaining the swindle to the police. Investigation by the police showed that more than 20 of such "passports" had been presented at the various doors.

IN OBSERVANCE OF ST. JOHN'S DAY.

Monday Washington Commandery will leave by boat at 7 o'clock for Providence, where the other Commanderies of the state will be met and a boat taken for Rocky Point for the annual field day. After the return to Newport in the evening the summer schedule of no meetings until September will go into effect.

Sunday afternoon the Commandery will have a special service, in honor of St. John's day, in Masonic Temple. The full Templar service will be conducted by the officers and Rev. George Vernon Dickey, rector of St. George's Church and a member of the order, will preach. The choir of Emmanuel Church, under the direction of Sir Knight Henry S. Hendy, will sing.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT HERE.

Spanish War Veterans of Rhode Island and Meeting at Quarters of Camp Thomas.

The annual encampment of the Department of Rhode Island, United Spanish War Veterans, is being held in this city today. Friday evening Department Commander E. R. Barker, Department Adjutant Arthur B. Spink, Department Quartermaster S. James Foster and Chief of Staff Harry Walcott arrived and established department headquarters at the Perry House.

This morning Commander-in-Chief Maurice Simmons and Adjutant General Ernest W. Larkin arrived from New York, followed later by Department Commander Russell Porter Clark of Greenwich, Conn., and General William Spofford of Salem, Mass., department commander of Massachusetts.

Delegates to the convention began arriving on the first trains and boats and continued to do so up to noon. At the recess hour 27 had reported and been admitted to seats and others were expected for the afternoon session. Among the delegates was Adjutant General Charles W. Abbott, Comrade Walsh of Taunton, who attends gatherings of the order far and wide, did not disappoint Rhode Island's sixth encampment, but was here to greet all hands on this occasion.

The session is held in the quarters of Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas Camp, Mercury hall, and at noon the camp served a little luncheon. During the morning Comrade Wolcott, in the name of Sidney F. Hoar Camp, presented the commander with a handsome gavel suitably inscribed.

After the recess reports of committees were received it was voted to thank the press of Rhode Island for courtesies shown and Camp Thomas for the arrangements for the convention. The thanks of the organization were extended to the United States Senate and House for the interest shown in the widows' pension bill, and the General Assembly was thanked for the passage of the soldiers' relief bill.

Resolutions were adopted deprecating the devotion of Memorial day to commercialism and sports; also, a resolution of thanks to General Abbot for his address at the unveiling of "The Hiker."

A vote was passed approving Woonsocket as the meet place for the convention in 1913.

Speechmaking on several subjects was then in order, those occupying the flor early this afternoon being Commander-in-Chief Simmons, Department Commander Clark of Connecticut and Adjutant General Larkin.

Department Commander Barker is entertaining the commander-in-chief while in Rhode Island and it is proposed to keep him in Newport over night and Sunday go by automobile to Providence, whence after some of the sights are shown the head of the order will start back for headquarters to prepare for other visitations, which keep him traveling a good part of the time. Commander Barker brought down his own machine and Major Herbert Bliss will have his out this evening, and the higher officials will look over the city.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO THE BEACH.

Daily Attendance Growing Larger and the Improvements Gradually Assuming Shape.

All roads are beginning to lead to the beach, the daily attendance growing steadily larger. Bathers are becoming more frequent and almost all day there are a number to be seen in the water.

During the past week considerable work has been done in construction and the general storehouse has been an active place, since the supplies have been coming in bunches. The sides of the merry-go-round building have been raised and the rafters are being placed, the old city pavilion is being enclosed and turned into an ice cream parlor, the sides of the dance hall are up and the east pavilion is framed, while a concrete tank and foundation for the toilet in that section is going in. At the extreme west end the refreshment booth for the private section and for the trade of those just arriving or departing from the beach is being erected on the clump of stones where once stood the first pretentious structure of the beach, the Sherman pavilion, which was destroyed by fire a quarter of a century ago.

A parking platform is being constructed in front of the general storehouse, the old merry-go-round building, for the roller chairs and the interior of the building is crowded with all sorts of supplies—equipment for the fire brigade, bathing suits, coppers for the kitchen, fine dishes and silver ware for the restaurant, rocking chairs for the merry-go-round building, marble-top tables for the ice cream parlor and the great variety of articles needed for the various stands. Two storekeepers are kept busy receiving and accounting for invoices and serving them out to the various departments.

The soda fountain has a spacious room for the chilling mechanism and gas generation and shelves for syrups and other supplies, with plenty of room and light for cleanliness.

At the clambake house and restaurant the kitchen has been torn to pieces; new ranges have arrived, steam ovens are at hand and then there is an electric dish washer and drying closet. The table frames for the clambake section in antique oak, have arrived but the white glass tops have yet to appear. Each table seats four and they are a decided change from the long wooden benches. Chairs will also replace stools. Friday a 20 horse power boiler was hauled to the beach to supply steam for the various purposes of heating and cooking at the restaurant.

WATERS-JOHNSON.

Friday evening at St. Joseph's rectory Mr. Joseph M. Waters and Miss Carrie Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, were united in marriage, Rev. Father Higney officiating. The attendants were Miss Higney and Mr. D. E. Sullivan. The bride wore a travelling gown of grey checked broadcloth and a large hat. The couple left on the 3:13 train for Boston and will later go to Springfield. The groom is a member of Newport Cuncil, Knights of Columbus.

THE SEAL MAKES RECORD.

Lake Submarine Dives 256 Feet Below Surface Off New London.

Submerged for More Than Half an Hour, With Twelve Men Watching Indicators.

Diving steadily for 10 minutes into a "hole" in Long Island sound southwest of Bartlett's Reef lightship, the Lake submarine Seal Friday reached a depth of 256 feet below the surface of the water and established a record for submersion. Twelve men watched the indicators and by telephone flashed the news to navy officers and construction experts waiting at the surface, when they passed the 200-foot mark set by the government, and still continued downward.

The best previous mark was set by submarine Salmon in October, 1911, when she plunged 144 feet in the waters of Narragansett bay and remained nearly 20 minutes. Before that the Octopus went down 125 feet.

The Seal remained down 30¾ minutes, and rose to the surface without difficulty when Lieutenant Kenneth Whiting, in command, gave the word. Progress toward the bottom was made slowly but steadily, and tests of the "skin" were made every few moments. At no time did those on board feel any discomfort, and no defects were found in the shell.

Communication was maintained with the group in a small craft directly over the spot where the Seal went beneath the surface. Cheers went up when the vessel again appeared. Nothing was seen through the port holes of the Seal save the inky black waters.

The craft, which is classed as a "dreadnought" submarine, must undergo other tests before she is accepted by the government.

The Seal, of the largest type ever built for the United States navy, was launched at Newport News February 8, 1911, and steamed alone to Bridgeport, Conn., in August, making the voyage in five days. She stopped at the Delaware Breakwater and at New York en route.

Captain Simon Lake of Bridgeport, Conn., is the designer of this type of submarine. The Seal was built by the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, and is 161 feet over all, with an extreme beam of thirteen feet. Her displacement submerged is 525 tons. The Seal is equipped with six tubes and her magazine capacity is ten torpedoes. The cruising radius is 2,50 knots. Her contract speed for the surface is fourteen knots, and submerged, nine and a half knots.

The Tuna and the Turbot are built along similar lines. All are destined for long ocean voyages without convoy of a tender.

FOR THE CLASS OF 1912.

Annual Reception and Musicale by the Rogers High School Alumni Association.

Friday evening the annual reception of the Rogers High School Alumni Association to the members of the class of 1912 was held at the school. From 8 to 8:45 in the library, Principal and Mrs. Frank E. Thompson received with Mr. Edward K. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Covell, Miss Margaret O'Hanley Miss Ruth B. Franklin, and Mr. Earl McLennan.

Following this a musicale was given in the assembly hall, the first number on the program being piano solos—"Humoresken," Greig, Miss Marie C. Dring, succeeded by a violin solo, "Meditation from Thais," Massenet, Miss M. Dorothy Rooney, who gave an encore. Mrs. Gertrude Downing Holman sang "The Danza", Chadwick and "Thou art so like a flower." Mr. Louis R. Chase played on the flute "Il Pastore Sizzero," P. Morlacchi; Miss Margaret F. O'Hanley sang "O Sweet Flower, Pure and Rare," Flotow, and Mr. Fred P. Webber read three humorous selections. Mrs. Holman sang again, "I Hear You Calling Me," Marshall, and another song; Mr. Vernon Tallman gave two vocal solos, "Indian Song," with an encore.

The exercises were brought to a close with "Cheer for Rogers," written by Mr. Lewis B. Plummer and set to music by Mr. H. S. Hendy—Mr. Plummer singing the song first and then the Class of 1912—and "Fair Rogers," words by Mr. Harold B. Walcott and music by Mr. H. S. Hendy, sung heartily by the whole gathering. The accompanists of the evening were Miss Elizabeth Haire, Mr. Hendy and Mr. Tallman.

At the close of the musicale, about 10 o'clock, ice cream, frappe and cakes were served and dancing followed to the strains of McCloskey's Orchestra.

The attendance was excellent. Most of the high school teachers were present, besides Superintendent Lull, Dr. C. F. Barker, Miss Anna F. Hunter and Colonel W. J. Cozzens of the School Committee. Palms and flowers added to the attractiveness of the assembly hall.

J. M. W. WHIST CLUB CLOSES SEASON.

Mrs. Mary E. Easton entertained the J. M. W. Whist Club Friday evening, this being the last meeting of the season. The prizes were won: First, Mrs. Katherine Weiss, Mrs. Eva Hill; second, Mrs. Annie Bacheller, Mrs. Emma Lewis; third, Mrs. Margaret Eadle, Jennie Dennis; consolation, Mrs. Sarah Burkinshaw and Mrs. Marjorie McMillan. Vocal and instrumental solos were rendered by the guests and a salad supper was served at midnight. Each guest was presented with a rose as a souvenir. Misses Florence and Olive Easton and Mrs. Minnie Lewis assisted Mrs. Easton in entertaining her guests.

CLOSE OF THE COMBINATION FAIR.

The fair and bazaar of the Father Mathew Society and Our Lady of the Isle Council, Catholic Women's Benevolent Legion, closed Friday evening, when the general prizes were awarded. Three numbers were selected for each article, so that if the first is not called for within a certain time the second will be announced, and so on. During the evening there was dancing in the main hall of the Father Mathew building, a large number participating. The awards made include the gas range to Miss Ethel Campbell, the diamond ring to Michael Grady and the safety razor to Richard Stevenson.

MIDDLETOWN.

Reception Tendered Mrs. Bowen of State Federation by Oliphant Club.

Graduating Exercises for Pupils of the Ninth Grade Unique in Annals of Town.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

One of the closing features of the Oliphant Club season was the reception tendered Friday to Mrs. Clovis H. Bowen of the Pawtucket Women's Club, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, at hte Holy Cross guild house. Opening at 2:45 with music, the order of exercises was continued by words of greeting and introduction by the president, Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham, who presented Mrs. Bowen.

Having been invited to speak on the question, "What should the federation mean to the local clubs?" the state president spoke in a somewhat brief manner of the advantages derived from affiliation, and of the various new thoughts and plans, ideas and suggestions, interchanged through Federation meetings which are for the betterment and advancement of the women of the organizations of the state. Several prominent departments of the state work were touched upon, showing how much more can be accomplished by the co-operation of many societies than by a single club. The address was concise and instructive, and the hearers appreciative.

The president of the Oliphant Club supplemented Mrs. Bowen's talk by stating that even a small club might add its mite to the general good accomplished by the Federation, by keeping in touch with the mother society and endeavoring, so far as possible, to carry out department and local work.

Mrs. Bowen was given the opportunity of meeting many members of the clubs and societies on the island, being assisted in receiving by the presidents of the Oliphant Club, Mrs. Peckham, and the vice president, Mrs. Elbert A. Sisson. Misses Helen Coggeshall, Mary Chase and Primrose Lawrence acted as pages.

Among the organizations represented were the Paradise Club of Middletown, the Current Topics Club of Newport, the Newport County Suffrage League of Bristol Ferry, Colonel William Barton and William Ellery Chapters, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Portsmouth and Middletown Women's Christian Temperance Union, many of the church guilds and Aquidneck Grange.

The schools of the Island were represented by the superintendent of schools of Portsmouth, Mrs. John Eldredge; the clerk of the Middletown school committee, Mrs. Peckham, and a number of the Newport teachers, more of whom would have been present had it not been graduation day at the Rogers High School. The guests were by no means restricted to federated club members.

Remarks were made and a cordial invitation extended by Miss Flora Mitchell, president of the Newport County Suffrage League, to attend the meeting of the League to be held July 1 with Mrs. Mandy Howe Elliot at "Oak Glen." Mrs. Howe was to have been present, but was unavoidably detained.

Announcement was made of the annual meeting of the State Federation, which will be held this year, through the courtesy of Miss Sarah J. Eddy and Mrs. Barton Ballou, at the Social Studio near Bristol Ferry.

During the serving of light refreshments and the social hour which followed there was music, Miss Helen W. Sisson contributing to the pleasure of the afternoon by her playing.

The various rooms of the guild house were decorated with a profusion of flowers. In the guild room a huge punchbowl filled with a mass of wild grasses, buttercups, daisies and clover made a pleasing centrepiece. In the assembly hall small tables were arranged at intervals, each bearing a vase of flowers. June roses adorned the piano and mantel, Deutzia, syringa and ferns filled the fireplace, with flame-colored geraniums over the logs. A tall large jar of purple iris made a striking background for the officers who received. The addition of large rugs and other accessories contributed to the effect.

Mrs. Bowen and her party motored through from Pawtucket.

Unique in the annals of Middletown were the graduating exercises for the pupils of the ninth grade at the Oliphant School at the Holy Cross guild house Friday evening. Through the efforts of the principal, Miss Helen M. Sibley, and the hard work of the pupils, who labored under many disadvantages in the way of books, the children were fitted to take the Newport examinations for the high schools and their marks were a source of gratification to all concerned.

In observance of the event, although restricted by the shortness of time Miss Sibley arranged the following program: Prayer, Rev. H. Newman Lawrence; address of welcome, Ruth Spooner; quartet, "The Vacation Song," Misses Mary Chase, Sarah Underwood, Sarah Champlin and Dorothy Spooner; the class history, Francis Barker Underwood; song by the school, "Stars of the Summer Night; class prophecy, Julia Anna Paquin; school song, "Now comes vacation; reading, "Graduating Time," Dorothy Spooner; school song, "Forget-me-not;" address by the superintendent of schools, Nathaniel L. Champlin; song by school, "Come with thy lute to the fountain;" awarding of diplomas, Mr. Champlin; closing song, "O, Middletown, Fair Middletown," original words set to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne." The accompanist for the evening was Francis Barker Underwood.

The class was originally four, but one leaving in April two girls and one boy completed the ninth grade work. These were Ruth Coggeshall Spooner, Julia Anna Paquin and Francis Barker Underwood.

Rev. Mr. Lawrence made a pleasing address, in his usual happy vein, offering hearty congratulations and stating that while the class was small in number it was large in possibilities; that graduation is merely a beginning, a reaching the summit of one hill only to see ahead higher hills to climb, that education is a debt to the state, to be paid back by good citizenship. A religious basis, he urged, should be the firm foundation of all education.

Mr. William Slocum, a former teacher in Middletown, made brief remarks, expressing his pleasure and interest in the unusual occasion and joining with the others in congratulations and good wishes to the young graduates.

Cake, lemonade and fancy wafers were served and the evening concluded with dancing, Mrs. Edith Coggeshall Child at the piano. Through the courtesy of the Oliphant Club the decorations of the afternoon's reception were retained for the evening.

The six schools closed Friday for the summer vacation, several of them holding picnics in the afternoon—the Peabody on the grounds of the Robinson Barker place, Green End avenue; the Wyatt in the schoolyard, and the Witherbee at the beach.

Mr. Alan R. Wheeler and family sailed today for England. The year is to be spent in travel on the continent, this being Mr. Wheeler's Sabbatical year at St. George's School, where he is instructor in history and physical training.

Miss Elizabeth P. Anthony, who has been teaching for several years at Montclair, N. J., has returned home on her summer vacation and attended Friday the graduating exercises of her sister, Miss T. Grace Anthony, at the Normal School, Providence. Miss Anthony is a graduate of the Normal. Miss Ardelia Peckham was also of the graduating class.

Mrs. B. W. H. Peckham has been spending the closing school days with her eldest daughter, Miss Winnifred Peckham, who is teaching at West Newton, Mass.

ADDRESSED BY FATHER MEENAN

Graduates of St. Mary's School Receive Diplomas and Prizes for Scholarshp.

The graduating exercises of St. Mary's School were held Friday, a class of 30 boys and girls receiving diplomas and prizes being awarded to representatives of all the classes for excellence in scholarship. Rev. Fathers Meenan, Reddy, Hines, Tierney and O'Rourke occupied seats in front of the stage and many of the parents and friends of the scholars were also present. Professor Albert Commette was the accompanist.

The exercises opened with a march, "Welcome Today," the members of the graduating class entering the hall and taking seats on the platform while it was being sung. Next was a recitative number, "A Tribute to Columbia", with several recitations and songs, Miss Nora Kelley representing Columbia. The class sang "O, Iola," Miss Nora Kelley recited "Liberty Bell," John Francis Kenny read an essay, "Glory to God," and the class sang "O Heart of Jesus."

The diplomas were presented by Rev. W. B. Meenan, who made a brief address of counsel and caution, the members of the class being Anastatia Laurentia Bowes, Hugh Francis Brady, Helen Marie Conheeny, Daniel Connerton, Anna Monica Corcoran, Josephine Hannah Donovan, James Henry Grant, John Joseph Hade, Mary Magdalen Healey, Agnes Locadia Healey, Rose Margaret Kelley, William Aloysuis Kelly, John Patrick Kenney, Joseph Stanislaus Lehane, Teresa Cecilia Lowney, Jeremiah Joseph Lynch, Dennis Raymond Mahoney, John Lawrence Martin, Mary Gertrude Manning, David Joseph Manning, Anna Teresa McGough, Francis Xavier McLaughlin, William Dennis Nagle, Mary Hilda Reagan, Mary Elizabeth Ring, Julia Ursula Segerson, Mary Josephine Shea, Cecilia Genevieve Smith, Francis Sullivan and Anna Genevieve Walsh.

Father Meenan also presented the medals and prizes for excellence in scholarship, being assisted by Father Hines.

The gold medal, given by Father Meehan for the best work during the year, was awarded to Jeremiah Joseph Lynch, with prizes also to Cecilia Genevieve Smith and Mary Magdalene Healey, of the graduating class.

Prizes were awarded in the other grades for scholarship as follows: Eighth grade, Anna Smith and Clare Flynn; seventh, Edward Lynch and Eilleen Leary; sixth, Joseph Henley and Edward Walsh; fifth, William O'Hanley, Mildred Manning and Emmet Phelan, the two last named being tied and each receiving a prize; fourth, Hugh Clarke and Austin Healey; third, George Ebbitt and Helen Burns.

Diplomas for excellence in the Palmer method of writing were awarded to Etta Bowers, Anna Donvan, Mary Fitzpatrick, Florence Galvin, Agnes Healey, Margaret Lowney and Alice Morris.

PRESTON AND SMITH LEAD.

Results of Full Speed and Edurance Trials of First Group of Destroyers.

Torpedo boat destroyers Reid, Lamson, Preston and Smith, comprising the first group of the Atlantic torpedo flotilla, had their steaming trials off Newport Friday, running at full speed for two hours and then having a six-hour endurance test. They had a smooth sea and otherwise favorable conditions and made good time over the course.

The Reid, under Lieutenant Commander John S. Doddridge, the group commander, made 29.5 knots on the full speed two-hour trial and 29.5 on the endurance run. The Preston, Lieutenant Herbert R. Leary, made 30.5 knots full speed and 30.6 on the six-hour run. The Smith, Lieutenant Edward C. S. Parker, made 30.37 knots on the full-speed test and 30.80 on the endurance run. The Flusser, Lieutenant W. H. Allen, though handicapped by an impaired boiler and bent propeller blades, made 28 knots at full speed and 27 on the endurance trial.

IN TOUCH WITH CONVENTION.

Henry Clews's Son-in-Law, Herbert Parsons, Says Taft's Nomination is Probable Today.

Mr. Henry Clews, who is at "The Rocks," is intensely interested in the out come of the Republican convention at Chicago and has a special representative there. His son-in-law, Mr. Herbert Parsons, is a delegate from New York, and Mrs. Parsons is with him. Mr. Clews received this morning from his representative the following telegram summarizing the situation:

"No doubt Taft will be nominated today. Platforms will make unequivocal declaration reducing tariff wherever possible with justice and will endorse Aldrich money plank. Roosevelt up in the air, uncertain what to do. His more radical lieutenants say they will knife Taft at the polls."

ORGANIZATION OF THE HELPING HAND.

A new charitable organization, the Helping Hand, met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. George J. Yoseff on Broadway, electing the following officers for the year:

President—Mrs. Samuel Burns.
First Vice President—Mrs. David B. Allen.
Second Vice President—Mrs. William Yancey.
Third Vice President—Mrs. Thomas Johnson.

IT TAKES THIRTEEN INNINGS.

But the Alumni Finally Win from the Rogers Team, in Weird Game.

Disputes Over Decisions, Accident to a Player and General Excitement.

In the annual game with the Alumni Friday, the Rogers High School base ball team lost by the score of 17 to 16. It was a weird game. Full of hits, runs and errors, it went 13 innings before the Alumni could claim the victory. Each team had it in hand more than once, only to lose, and it was two hours and 40 minutes before the last ball was thrown.

A record crowd saw the contest, which was marked by much wrangling and many disputed decisions of the umpire, O'Sullivan, who held the indicator, has done the umpiring for most of the high school games this season and has always before proved satisfactory, but this time his decisions were questioned by both teams.

An incident which marred the game was an injury to the Rogers captain, Joseph J. Martin. In the ninth inning, with the score a tie, he tried to steal home but was caught at the plate by Langley. His foot caught in the hole at the plate, and a small bone near the knee was injured. Martin suffered considerably at first, but the medical corps of the Alumni, Dr. Corbett and Dr. DeBlois, each had him comfortable and he was able to go home.

The Alumni team was minus the services of Frank Corridon, who had been announced to pitch, but wished to save his arm. The team had a variety of players, however, including four of the Trojans, former big leaguer, several from college 'Varsity men and high school students. The Rogers made a creditable showing against such an aggregation, and did well in holding it to the 17-16 score.

Sayer was in the Rogers box, and Oxx, of last year's team, against him. Both were found for plentiful hits, Sayer for a total of 23 and Oxx for 15. Many of these were long, including eight doubles, triples by Sheehan and Jemail and home runs by Martland and Jemail. Both pitchers handed out passes, Oxx presenting five and Sayer four. Oxx mowed down the Rogers batters by strikeouts, however, 15 to Sayer's 5.

The scoring was nip and tuck from the first inning to the ninth, the game being replete with sensational plays, ragged work and poor decisions. At the end of the ninth the score was 14 to 14. Both teams had been on the verge of victory several times and the many "kicks" at decisions had put the players on edge. With the Alumni leading, 14 to 13, when Rogers came to bat in the ninth, the schoolboys were determined to win, but the determination was in vain.

Jemail came up and a succession of fouls, which tired Oxx, made him put over a slow, easy ball. Jemail rapped it out for a single. He stole third, and Cottrell struck out. Eddy was out at first on a throw from short, Jemail reaching third. Martin walked, and with Pinto at bat Jemail took a long lead and started for home as Oxx pitched. What really happened at the plate is not down on record, but the result was that Jemail scored and Langley let the ball go into the crowd. Martin had stolen second in the meantime, came to third, and then came home while the search for the ball was on.

Then the big "scrap" of the game came, the Alumni catcher putting up a kick of "interference" and being joined by others of the team. The Rogers men came on the field and the crowd came streaming after. O'Sullivan had seen the play, however, and allowed Jemail's run, but he sent Martin back to third because of the one-base rule on a passed ball. Martin tried to steal home and received his injury. Geraghty took his place, as there were none of the high school substitutes on the field.

The tenth inning saw no runs, but in the eleventh there came two apiece. O'Connell, first up for the Alumni, laced out a single beyond Jemail's reach. Langley hit to right
